The hope of unproven therapies: Healthcare professionals' experiences of patient & family enquiries

Join us in our free listening and sharing session

April 30th 4:00PM AEST

Speaker: Leanne Rees

Leanne is a physiotherapist and post-doctoral research officer at the Murdoch Children's Research Institute. She is investigating how healthcare professionals navigate patient's and family's therapeutic hopes in the online age.

Healthcare professionals are increasingly approached by consumers seeking advice on unproven online therapies. In this session we will discuss the experiences of healthcare providers, the complexities involved and explore opportunities on how to navigate and respond to these enquiries.

The session will be facilitated by: Stacey Cleary
